Dear Sister/Brother,

I am writing to invite you to participate in a conference on Working Against Racism – The role of trade unions, which will be held on Friday 24th February 2006 at the TUC.

The Conference is being jointly organised by the TUC and the Working Lives Research Institute and will launch a booklet containing a number of recommendations for trade unions that have emerged from the results of a 3-year comparative research project looking at racial and ethnic minorities, immigration and the role of trade unions in combating racism. The research has been undertaken by an international team from Belgium, Bulgaria, Italy, France and the UK who have worked closely with workers and their trade unions in the following sectors: health, retail, public transport and naval engineering, white goods manufacture, tobacco, textiles and construction.

The success of this day will depend on your participation as an activists and trade unionist. The Working Lives Research Institute worked closely with the trade unions and the TUC throughout the three years of the project. Now is the time for you to judge our efforts on behalf of the labour & anti-racist movement and, hopefully, together to inspire a re-invigorated campaign against those who seek to divide workers on racial and/or ethnic lines.

There are a limited number of places at the event so if you wish to attend please return the attached form. We look forward to seeing you at the Conference. For further information, please call Wilf Sullivan on 020 7467 1259 or email on wsullivan@tuc.org.uk
